Oregon's current regulatory system has limited effectiveness and also depends heavily on federal environmental laws including the Clean Air Act, the Clean Water Act, and the National Environmental Policy Act. Federal environmental laws are in jeopardy with the new administration. An amendment to Oregon's constitution shows our commitment to protecting the environment. By making this change to Oregon's constitution, we can codify the right to protect your use, enjoyment, and value of your property by protecting it from harmful activities of others.
