Please support SB 1153. We need sensible laws to protect instream flows that benefit ecosystems and downstream communities. Individual water users should not have the ability to undermine these values. Lets focus resources on water conservation, rain catchment, and other means of providing water without drawing it out of the ground or rivers. As climate change progresses, fluctuations in river levels and water supply will get more dramatic, so it is critical that we get out ahead of these issues before they become too acute.
