

Submitter:

Heather Edwards

On Behalf Of:

Committee:

House Committee On Education

Measure, Appointment or Topic:

HB2251

This bill would greatly impact students with anxiety. Some students only get through the day knowing that if something happened at school, they have access to their parents. No school should be able to limit a child's ability to get help if needed. Especially schools that are more hands on and community based. When my children go on weekly walks in our community, or have PE that is off campus, there is one teacher. Children should not have rely on one teacher's cell phone to get help in case of an emergency. The teachers themselves could be needing medical assistance and forgot their phone or it could be dead. Our government should not get a say in whether or not children should have devices in school.