

Submitter: Travis Smith

On Behalf Of:

Committee: Senate Committee On Energy and Environment

Measure, Appointment or Topic: SB301

Nature and high river flows will cause more harm than any boat with ballast or larger vessels without ballast will ever cause.

There are dock systems around the country that do just fine in storms and heavy waves. Living on the water comes with inherent changes in boating landscapes and trying to stall growth in recreation like this is not fair. Times change as does living on the river. If you are not willing to accept change it is probably time to move off of the river front.