SB243

The age requirement listed in this bill, conflicts completely with the original intent of using 18 years as the age at which a person is considered an adult. In the 1960s our young men were being sent overseas to war. At 18 you had to register for the draft and prepare to kill for your country. It was decided at the time that full citizenship benefits were required for this group of people, meaning all benefits laid out in our founding document the Constitution of the United States of America
