

Opposed, as a recreational river user (dragon boater) I have been in two separate capsizing events created by wake boats. The lack of consideration of those driving the boats is beyond frustrating! How close they speed by us creating their wake. Then when capsized not realizing what they have done or if they do they speed off and do not come to help. It's been difficult to get back out and enjoy the water with the capsizing events that have happened.