My name is Jasmine Garrett and I am a resident of Portland. I am writing to you today about the urgent need for action to protect the fundamental right of every Oregonian to a clean, safe and healthy environment.

Portland is an area abundant with families of all ages. Although I have yet to be one myself, I see young parents every day showing their children all there is to love about being outside, even within the bounds of the city. I hope the public land they will inherent brings them the solace that we receive from it today.
