I oppose SB 1187.

I live on the coast also considered a rural community...two attributes that apparently make me a resident of an "environmental justice community" according to the Environmental Justice Council who, along with the Environmental Quality Commission will be integral in carrying out "climate change adaptation projects" as part of this bill.

I'm old enough to remember the "climate justice" people and organizations shutting down our communities' use of resources that helped our area thrive.

Our resources were managed well because our communities were invested in, and the recipients of its bounty.

The pandering to communities like mine, is disgusting. We're struggling and "underserved" BECAUSE of their policies and activism.

This legislation will superfund their religion of Climatedism.

How about we cease all weather/geological modification/manipulation activities, wait for a minute, then take a look at what our NATURAL climate looks like.
