We seem to always increase taxes and never reduce them. With the increased burden on Oregon tax payers I believe you are creating an uncertain future. I personally am considering moving. I moved here with the knowledge that Oregon has one of the highest income tax rates in the USA. The saving grace is that the sales tax was zero. Now I'm taxed weekly for the CAT tax and now you want to tax my beverage....

I have lived in three states in my life. Oregon is headed in the wrong direction if it want to keep the citizens that are actual contributors to society. If you want to bring new businesses or industries to the state you will need professionals like myself to work for these companies. With this tax I will have to consider moving out of the state.
