SB210

I am in support of in person voting for numerous reasons. One being that for the last two elections, I was notified after the election that my signature wasn't approved so consequently my vote wasn't accepted. On the second occasion I referred back to my signature card that I was asked to fill out after the 2020 election and signed in exact only to have it rejected again. With mail in ballots, once the ballot is removed from it's outer signature envelope there is no assurance it was even counted.

Received and counted are not the same.

Respectfully,

Dan Hines
