Please stop punishing the law-abiding citizens with these unproven and constitutionally flawed regulations. Target the real problem, mental health. Look at the statistics of firearm caused deaths; suicide makes up the vast majority, over three-quarters of them as sad as it may be, but the average law-abiding gun owner is not contributing to firearm deaths. Also, make laws that actually punish violent firearms related crimes with severe consequences. I have done nothing, but yet I'm treated as a criminal for having firearms for sport and my personal protection. My rights are taken away though what have I done to deserve it? Why do I have to pay more and lose more? Go after the real criminals, they are not going to abide by your rules. Let's be real and use common sense on this matter. We both know this will do nothing to lower firearm deaths or to stop crime, but more than likely increase the crime rates.
