I am a Single Mom by Choice to a very vibrant and happy 2 yr old DCP. This is wonderful news and I would hope this is something that can eventually be national. Giving donor conceived people the opportunity to (at the very least) get their medical history at the age of 18 feels like a basic human right. So much may have. Haves since the donor donated and so this only seems like giving the DCP their fair chance at managing their own future health. I applaud this bill
