SB210

Mail-in voting is an Oregon institution and it's part of why we have a higher voter turnout than areas that have in-person voting as the standard. Everyone's voice deserves to be heard, including those who are unable or for whom it is difficult to vote in person. This bill will needlessly make voting harder and, as a result, voting turnout will plummet. It's the exact opposite of what we should be doing. Voting is an American right and it should remain as accessible as possible.
