I oppose eliminating voting by mail. Voting by mail is a much more efficient and effective method of voting. As voters age, it is much more difficult for elderly people to stand in long lines or to actually facilitate transportation to their voting location. Manning a voting location with volunteers is a daunting task as given the volatile nature of our political elections over the past ten years, who as a citizen wants to put their safety and well being at risk to volunteer at a voting location? Given the questionable authenticity of voting machines since Elon Musk is deeply entrenched in the current administration leaves many of us skeptical that elections will ever be fair and honest again. Voting by mail ensures that my vote will not be altered or manipulated and will express my choice of candidates.

Respectfully,

Janet Robbins
