I support SB 210. In-person voting is crucial for maintaining the integrity and security of our elections. It ensures that voters can verify their identity and cast their ballots without the risk of fraud or errors often associated with remote voting methods. By voting in person, individuals have the opportunity to receive assistance if needed and access support at polling stations. Additionally, it reinforces the community aspect of elections, as it encourages civic engagement and participation. In-person voting upholds transparency, strengthens trust in the electoral process, and fosters a sense of responsibility among citizens in shaping the future of their country.
