There is no benefit to banning vote by mail.

All data shows that voting by mail is safe and allows for greater participation in the democratic process.

Banning voting by mail is a political barrier to discriminate against those that face hardships in physically going to a polling station, or can't take off work, or lack easy transportation, or any number of other reasons . Because of this this impacts poor are marginalized demographics more.

This is unnecessary burden for no benefit and is a obviously to gain political advantage.
