

Submitter:

Andre Brunengo

On Behalf Of:

Committee:

Senate Committee On Rules

Measure, Appointment or Topic:

SB210

This is good measure to help build confidence in the Voting System. If we need ID to fly, buy cigarettes for our spouse, drive, obtain employment, etc..., then asking proper verification of someone's credentials before enabling them to participate in an arguably important civic process makes common sense. I really can't imagine why someone would be opposed to proper ID before voting....?