SB210

Voting by mail is an equalizer - if you are unable to take time off work, if you are sick, if you are caregiving for someone else, if you do not have a reliable method of transportation, you are still able to exercise your fundamental right to participate in an election, and the option to vote by mail secures this right and allows for flexibility in doing so. Forcing folks to come in person is nothing short of an attempt at voter suppression. I strongly oppose this bill and deeply question those who have deluded themselves into thinking this is anything but an attempt to prevent people from participating in politics.
