SB210

While there are merits to discuss of in-person voting versus mail voting (on both sides), this, per usual, is really just Republicans trying to disenfranchise voters who disagree with them, rather than changing their own policies to meet the majority of Oregonians. Until there is documented evidence of widespread, statistically-significant voter fraud that could only occur with vote-by-mail, we should treat repealing vote-by-mail in the bad faith that it is intended and reject this bill, fully and completely.
