SB210

This is an insane piece of legislation which aims to fix something which is truly not broken. I have been voting by mail for decades now ever since Phil Kiesling ushered in the vote by mail. I have no idea why Republicans are so freaked out by allowing people to vote by mail...There is no more evidence of fraud in voting by mail than there is by in person voting but somehow they feel a need to make a nonissue into an issue. Republicans have a lot of good ideas that deserve to be considered and they should be concentrating on those ideas rather than this vapid concern about voting.
