I'm writing to say it is completely unreasonable to expect everyone in Oregon to vote in-person on the same day. Employers are not interested in letting people leave their workplace early to let us vote or giving us the day off. You would need to force businesses to close for the day and that's not going to happen. The costs associated with conducting mail-in voting are peanuts compared to the infrastructure necessary to support in-person voting that could actually facilitate everyone getting a fair chance. Because we all know in-person only voting is just a way to make sure working class people can't vote. Keep the mail-in voting process, which supports USPS. It allows for working people with busy schedules, like myself, to not miss their opportunity to exercise their rights and participate in this democracy. As a tax payer I expect Oregon officials to fight hard to keep mail-in voting and work for Oregonians, not against us.
