There is simply no reason to change the way we vote in Oregon, other than to appease the current regime in Washington, D.C. Voting by mail is safe, accurate, and until now there has not been a question about revoking it. This will disenfranchise many of us who work full-time and would have to take off time to vote. If there is a question about the safety and security of our elections in Oregon, which I suspect there is not any credibility to, then there better also be a plan to give voters an election holiday to vote, like most other democracies in the world. Or perhaps, the point is not protecting democracy at all.
