SB210

A major issue in this country is lack of voting. Voting is not only our constitutional right it is also a duty of every American to get informed and vote.

Restrictions to voting will only hurt America. We should be looking for more ways to get people access to voting and increasing voter turnout, not ways to limit voting access. If in-person voting on the day of the election is the only option then voting rates will only plummet further. How can we claim that our elected officials truly represent the people if the majority of the people were not involved in electing them.
