Oregon election mail-in ballots as the standard voting method makes voting easy and accessible to all Oregonians. Requiring citizens to opt-in to mailed ballots presents an unnecessary barrier to the elderly, rural communities, and low-income households. Requiring citizens to attend voting events in person presents barriers of time and transportation, which are currencies not afforded equally to all. There is no reputable evidence that Oregon's standard mail-in ballot system is at risk for fraud. Keep the status quo and leave our voting system alone!
