I strongly oppose SB210. Mail-in voting in Oregon is accessible and allows voters to take their time and make thoughtful decisions about their ballots. Mandatory in-person voting would put an undue burden on disabled people, working people, parents, and anyone else who would struggle to make it to a polling location, thus reducing voter turnout. Any attempts to reduce voter turnout are shameful - all registered voters should be able to submit their vote and have it counted. Keep mail-in voting for everyone!
