Mail-in voting helps disabled people, the elderly, military veterans, people with busy jobs, people who are sick, and so many others participate in American democracy. I live in Bend and November can have horrible snow and rain. Waiting in long lines in those elements is unnecessary and will cause some people not to vote at all. Mail-in voting is such a great option and has worked really well in Oregon for years with virtually no cases of fraud. Taking this away would be un-American, anti-freedom, and bad for American citizens.
