Submitter: Andrew Bibens

On Behalf Of:

Committee: Senate Committee On Rules

Measure, Appointment or Topic: SB210

I'm not sure why any sane person would want to get rid of voting by mail. It has been proven time and time again that it is a safe, reliable, and efficient method of voting. The only reason this has even become an issue over the last 5 years is because Donald Trump and his MAGA supporters realize that they cannot win an election if everyone were required to vote, and mail-in voting makes it easier to achieve true representation of the constituency. They will often make claims that thousands of ballots were falsely submitted, but have no real evidence to back it up. I can't recall a single court case which deemed that there was massive voter fraud anywhere in the United States, and if there was, right-wing media outlets like FOX News would would reference it constantly. But again, the only thing they have to run on are false claims. A return to in-person voting is actively anti-democratic and should be seen as an assault on our rights to free and fair elections.