Mail in ballots have been a huge step forward for me. I can prepare my ballot at home, thoughtfully working through election materials at me leisure. I am able to submit my ballot over a broad span of time, thus not worrying about personal health, inclement weather, and family considerations which used to be a concern with in person, one day polling. Privacy and security have proven to hold up with this system, and I would be hugely disappointed to see a change in what Oregon has chosen for its voting system. Going back to in person voting is, in my mind, offering a solution where there is no problem. Do not take away our mail-in balloting.
