Mail in Voting is amazing. I grew up in a state where it wasn't allowed, and I always got flustered at the ballot box, trying to parse what the wording of different proposals meant and trying to remember who was who in the research I had done leading up to the day. I love that, in Oregon, I am able to fully read and research ballot proposals and candidates and take my time making these important decisions. Making mail in voting illegal is just attempted disenfranchisement of voters, plain and simple.
