Measure, Appointment or Topic: SB210

Oregon Senate Bill 210 presents an opportunity to enhance election integrity by making in-person voting the standard and requiring government-issued identification for voting or requesting mail-in ballots. As someone with a computer science degree, I understand the vulnerabilities of systems reliant on technology—anything using a computer can be controlled or compromised. To address these concerns, SB210 should also advocate for hand-counting ballots in small precincts to ensure accuracy and transparency. This combination of measures aims to protect the democratic process and bolster public trust in elections.
