SB210

Oregon has allowed voting by mail for many years, at least since I moved to Oregon in 2006. It is convenient, and encourages more participation in decisions that affect Oregonians. It allows folks who might have difficulty voting in person to participate in the processes of democracy. To limit voting by mail would be a direct assault on participatory democracy, and would result in fewer people making decisions that might affect us all. I oppose SB 210.
