Oregon's vote by mail is a fundamental part of the high turnout we enjoy in our elections, regularly above the national average -- a great mark of pride for this state. Being able to thoroughly research and consider candidates, fill out your ballot without pressure or possible intimidation, and return it without concerns for lines, weather conditions, or even the time of a polling place being open is a key part of having an informed and capable democracy. This bill is an attempt to bring restrictions to that turnout and harm our state, under the guise of "fiscal responsibility" for the cost of mail.

I strongly urge you to vote NO and protect Oregon's elections.
