I am proud to be an oregonian that votes by mail. Oregon has moved beyond the archaic in person voting system and has opted for a research backed approach to improve voter turnout. Mail in voting allows more access for everyone to exercise their right to vote in elections. Mail in voting makes it easier for citizens to partake in an essential part of American government and allow for the publics voice to be heard. Take away mail in voting and you take away the voice of many who, for many reasons, cannot vote in person.
