

Submitter: Frances Gatti

On Behalf Of:

Committee: Senate Committee On Rules

Measure, Appointment or Topic: SB210

Universal absentee or mail-in voting leaves America's electoral system vulnerable to fraud, forgery, coercion, and voter intimidation.

Uncovering instances of voter fraud is difficult, and those who commit fraud are often able to get away without repercussions.

Preventing voter fraud is crucial for protecting election integrity, ensuring public confidence in the election system, and maintaining a stable democratic republic.