

Submitter:

Vanessa Nelson

On Behalf Of:

Committee:

Senate Committee On Rules

Measure, Appointment or Topic:

SB210

Requiring in-person voting would make it nearly impossible for many of us to vote. People would have to miss work, and many would have to drag kids along to the ballot.

People who aren't fully able-bodied would have difficulty getting to the polls and standing in line.

It would allow only a smaller, unrepresentative portion of the population to voice their preference. It would eliminate the votes of many, and that is undemocratic.