

Submitter: Holli Papasodora

On Behalf Of:

Committee: Senate Committee On Rules

Measure, Appointment or Topic: SB210

Have worked in elections (absentee voting in Alaska and verifying signatures as well as assisting with ballots in Oregon) and having voted in elections in two different states, I know first hand that mail-in voting allows for more accessibility across parties, and is a system that has lots of checks and balances.

In person voting limits who is able to vote due to work schedules, child care, health conditions, and access to polling locations, and leads to a lower voter turnout.