Vote by mail has been working well for Oregonians for 30 years. The only reason to repeal it is to disenfranchise our citizens. A person shouldn't lose the right to participate in our democracy just because they can't physically get to a polling place on the one allotted day of the election. I would hope the Oregon legislature would not take such a regressive action lightly, without overwhelming proof of widespread fraud and abuse directly related to the mail-in process. If you can't reach that bar, leave it alone.
