In-person voting prevents fraud. If you want everyone to be happy with their choices and give everyone a chance at voting do in person. Mail in voting should be left for the disabled and the special cases like sending it to the soldiers over seas to vote for our next president. I believe that mail in voting in most cases can provide an opportunity for dishonest people who want to do no good like cheating in the election and getting people in the position of power to further one parties agenda. We need a voting system that we can trust and honestly know that our votes are being counted and our voices are being heard.
