Oregon's Vote By Mail system is a model for the rest of the nation. It is a safe and age-old practice. It makes voting more inclusive, making it more accessible to particular demographics. It also makes voting easier for elderly and people with mobility issues. Research shows the public favors this system and that the results of voting by mail are partisan-neutral. Research from the Brennan Center for Justice in 2020 showed that incidents of fraud associated with this method are rare. Their study showed that best voting practices exist in states using vote by mail systems. I am strongly in favor of Oregon's vote by mail system.
