These are the reasons I prefer mail-in-voting:

(1) It has made me a better informed voter as it allows me the time to research the issues and people that are relevant to me and my family.

(2) It saves me time by allowing me to do more complete research over an extended period of time at my convenience.

(3) I am not distracted from the issues on the voting day because I don't have to work around the schedules of my spouse and children.

(4) There are so many checks and balances through the Election Office and Post Office that I know my ballot is secure and will be counted fairly.
