Mail in voting is one of the best things about living in Oregon. It allows people to take the time to really research the people and initiatives they are being asked to vote for, and not have to take off time to participate in democracy. It also makes sure that there is a paper record of our votes if there are any questions about the vote. Mail in voting is one of the safest and most secure ways to vote and people can still drop off their ballots in person as well if they want to. The incidence of voter fraud is so incredibly low its nothing to worry about. Having more people vote than that might if they had to show up in person is way more valuable. People care more if they have the chance to participate in the process. Quit trying to restrict peoples rights and ability to vote. Mail in voting is safe and secure.
