There is no evidence that vote by mail has resulted in fraudulent results. Oregonians legally voted to allow vote by mail and it's been working. Merely because the Trump administration and republicans have not won a national election in Oregon is no reason to require in person voting. Having time to review ballot measures and candidates for office from home and time to cast ballots by mail ensures everyone eligible to vote can participate and exercise their constitutional right. Not every rural community has in person voting places and forcing people to travel to vote discriminates against those who do not have access to transportation. Many rural communities do not have public transit options.
