I love mail in voting. I can take a Saturday that I have free, sit down for a couple of hours, review everything and everyone, ensure I fill out the forms fully and correctly and then drop it in the voting box. Forcing me to take a day off of work and go stand in a miserable line with the pressure of people behind me would be the worst. We have a system that works great as long as the right wing maniacs are not starting our drop boxes on fire. I love love love our civilized way of voting here.
