To the committee,

I strongly oppose any attempt to reinstate barriers to voting. This is an insult to the overwhelmingly honest and hard-working citizens of Oregon. I have been a political independent for many years. But I am sorry to have to say that bill this smells, at best, like political grandstanding or, at worst, like cynical vote manipulation by one particular political party.

In my household, we feel that having the time to study the ballot mailed to us at home helps us make much better voting decisions. We take voting very seriously, and check to make sure our ballots are received. They always have been.

Restricting voter access is an insult to our American heritage and aspirations. How far back do these radicals want to take us? Back to only male property owners having the right to vote?

Please respect and listen to the voters of Oregon and shut this dog-and-pony show down.
