I believe that being able to cast one's vote by mail enables many more registered voters to submit ballots. If voters are only offered an in-person option for casting ballots, many will be unable to do so. The reasons for not being able to cast a vote in person are numerous: lack of transportation, the inability to get time off of work or family obligations are just a few.

It seems reasonable that reverting to in-person voting and ONLY in-person voting would increase the state's cost for elections. What would be gained?

Please do not restrict registered voters from casting ballots!
