Our current system of vote by mail has a well-established track record of enabling a higher-than-average number of voters to cast their ballots. A significant number of eligible voters are not able to cast their ballot in person on election day for a variety of valid reasons which include health restrictions, job and/or family commitments, inability to travel to polling sites to name a few. These eligible voters should not lose their right to vote because of these limitations. Our vote by mail system should be retained.
