

Submitter:

Caitlin ODell

On Behalf Of:

Committee:

Senate Committee On Rules

Measure, Appointment or Topic:

SB210

In-person voting is a hardship for many. From those who have very busy life and/or work schedules, to those who have a lack of transportation options. Mail-in voting has been proven to be accurate, effective, and convenient. We WANT as many people as possible to be able to have their voices heard, and making in-person voting the default does not serve that goal. The current method has been working well for years. There is no good reason to change it now and make it more difficult for people to vote.