Voting by mail allows citizens to exercise their constitutional right without interfering with their to work, attend appointments or family responsibilities. These issues interfered with my ability to vote in another state if my work started prior to polls opening of their closing time. I feel the current system is as safe and the prior state I lived in. Executive privilege should not interfere with state or constitutional rights. This suppose to be a country that supports voting rights not make it harder to vote. A president should not take over making laws or change spending that is a federal congress job. Setting up how and when you vote is a state right.
