I oppose an end to mail-in voting. Although I'm old enough to remember voting in person and value those memories, there's no arguing with success. Oregon has voter participation numbers to be proud of, and I attribute that to vote-by-mail. I was raised in the 1970s and 1980s to believe that every eligible person should vote. Voter suppression is wrong and should be opposed wherever and in whatever form it arises.
