Voting by mail makes it so much easier to stay informed and involved in elections - not just the big ones, but local ones as well. Prior to moving to Oregon 9 years ago I had never voted in a local election due to the annoyance of having to keep track of when it was and dedicating time on that one day to go vote. But the way Oregon currently does elections is so great - being able to research each candidate on my own time and fill out the ballot over multiple days if needed makes me feel like I'm actually picking the best candidate.
